THE MEETING TO-NIGHT.-The meeting in the 1st ward, to nominate two candidates for the Common Coudeil will be held at the house next (ess.) to the Gazatte office to-night at 7:30 o'clock sherp. A large number of gentlemen are mentioned in connection with the nomination, and several tickets will probably be in the field-a proples' ticket, a democratic readjuster iteket, a temperance troket and an anri-tempersace ticket, but it is thought that two candidates will be selected regardless of side is use, who wil work for the best interest of the city and the people they serve.

"ALL THAT GLITTERS IS NOT GOLD."-The second and i.s. f the entertainments by the friends of the O d Dominion Bust Oub, for the benefit of that club, was given at Armery Hail last night. The comedy "All that Glitters is not Gold," was the piece selected, and it was presented in a sile that brought fourth demonstrations of approvation the shape of continued applease and hand-ome floral off rings, consis ing of baskots emblams and bouquets. Woen the curtain rese at 8 o'clock 'Mr. Jasper Plum,' in a handsome black velvet suit, appeared before an assemblage of youth and beauty, calture, refinement and appreciative talgut, rately equiled and never excelled to the history of the city. Never were seters and notrerees more praised, and never did the members of a troupe better deserve the eccomiums bestowed upon them, for it is safe to tay that, never will more abt my, never the same disenmetasons, be displayed on the stage at Armory Hall; and Alexandria, judging from the entertainments of the last two nights, can well afford to bosst of her histricaic talent. All did remarkably well but it is deficult to conceive bow the char acter of Martha, [Miss Mary Brent] could be improved upin; grandly did she oarry out her part of the programme, and there was not one in all that vast sudience who failed to renogous in her talent of the highest order. Her voice, clear and discharmed and delighted, while her actions were the perfection of green and ears. Martha the feetery girl was grand; Martha the friend and saviour of Ludy Valeria was grander, and long will she be remembered for her high std lotry correption of the character she assumed, which reflets credit upon the heart and head of the lady, for the spleadid execution proved beyond a doubt that the sent ments attered were but the oupouriogs of a heart that was in the right place. Lady Valeria" [Mrs. Lucy Howard] elegantly sittree, by her magoificent actior, added greeily to her already well known and demired reputation, and, like "Marthe," was remarded with a profation of bandsoce bongaets. Mr. George A. Mashbach, as "Mr. Jasper Place" came no fully to the high expectations of his friends, and 'Sephon Place," [Mr. Samed G.
